Contract

For the period beginning _____ and ending _____, the undersigned advertiser, _____, (hereinafter called Advertiser) agrees to run in The News-Gazette Corporation's Valley of Virginia Properties a minimum of one ad per monthly edition. Advertiser will receive the contract rate described above. In addition, Advertiser will receive a 25% discount on ROP display advertising in The News-Gazette for the term of this contract.

If Advertiser fails to run sufficient advertising to fulfill minimum annual volume requirements, Newspaper may bill Advertiser for short rate. Rate will be figured based on Advertiser's actual volume run since beginning date of this contract and applying the Open Rate. Advertisers will be billed for the difference between this figure and actual volume run, applying the contract rate. Upon thirty days notice, either party may cancel this contract. Should Newspaper cancel, there will be no short rate bill. Should Advertiser cancel contract, Advertiser would be subject to short rate provisions contained herein. Advertiser agrees to pay all bills within Newspaper's terms, and to abide by all other policies of Newspaper's printed rate card. (Note, The News-Gazette now offers a 2% discount for payments received by the 12th of the month.)

Interesting Results From a 2011 Local Survey

Rockbridge County consumers rely on The News-Gazette first for local news and shopping information, according to a May, 2011 survey of 225 local residents. 59% of respondents said they look to The News-Gazette or The Weekender first; over 3 times the rate of the second place medium of television, and over 4 times that of the local print competitor.

82% of respondents said they frequently or always read the advertising inserts in The News-Gazette and The Weekender.

90% said they frequently or always read The Weekender. 69% said they always read it.

19% of respondents said they shopped in Staunton within the past 3 months. 17% had shopped in Roanoke. Waynesboro was not listed as a destination, but 23 respondents wrote in that they'd shopped in Waynesboro. The top reasons listed for shopping out of town were selection, price and that they enjoyed the trip.

The News-Gazette is an efficient buy because readers keep their newspapers for more than a day. 83% of those surveyed said they kept their News-Gazette handy for three days or more. 59% said two people read the copy of the paper that came to their home – 28% said that three or more people read The News-Gazette in their home.

63% of respondents said they frequently or always use coupons.

75% said they refer to the classifieds in The News-Gazette and The Weekender at least twice a month.

Over 1200 local residents responded to a survey form inserted in The Weekender on April 16, 2011. From the 1200 plus responses mailed in by the May 13, 2011 deadline, 225 were selected at random and tabulated. A copy of the survey and the tabulated results is available at The News-Gazette's office or from your advertising representative.
